WHAT IS THE HBCU KINGS AND QUEENS CONFERENCE?

Founded in 2002, our conference is designed to expose college students to business and career development skills to enrich their campus and life experience. The four-day conference exclusively targets Historically Black College and University (HBCU) students who serve as the official king and queen in Mister or Miss leadership titles. These students are brought together to learn from trained experts as they present about professional development, presence, and confidence.

As a result, we need your support in making this conference a success.

ABOUT US

We love our HBCU students! Ranging from ages 19-24, they comprise the top 20% of their class and represent a spectrum of academic majors, from computer science and business to communications and engineering. Collectively, our kings and queens lead over 110K students across 35+ U.S. colleges and universities. Our student leaders are social media magnets, with an average social following of 3K. Together, they pack over a one million follower punch. As such, there is a lot to "like" about our students.

It is anticipated that the 2023 conference will attract approximately 250-300 HBCU student participants.
